

Summer in the Balkans

CLEMSON
POLITICAL SCIENCE
Study Abroad

Overview

This is a unique opportunity to learn about European post-conflict societies— a troubled history, current developments, culture and people— by submerging yourself in a foreign, friendly environment. The former Yugoslavia is a beautiful location with a rich cultural and political history. You will meet people from all strata of life and absorb new knowledge by socializing with your peers, making friends and experiencing one of the most vibrant and hospitable European capitals. You will learn and develop skills through interaction with local students, faculty, non-governmental organizations and high-ranking officials. You will broaden your horizons, better understand developments in Europe and form your own opinion about major issues affecting the region. But the life experiences will be just as rewarding. You will enjoy the countryside, the magnificent Adriatic Sea beaches, the unparalleled beauty of the mountains in the region and three of the best-preserved medieval cities in the world.
